

FRANKLIN GROVE MAYOR MOBBED BY TOWN CITIZENS

WORRIED OVER DEBTS; YOUTH INHALED GAS

Franklin Grove Boy Took Own Life in Baltimore Monday Eve.

The Rockford Register Gazette of Tuesday evening has the following account of the death of Courtney S. Smith of Franklin Grove, whose death, it was announced to The Telegraph had been caused by an automobile accident.

Despondent because he could not pay $401 he owed friends, Courtney S. Smith, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Smith of Franklin Grove, Ill., took his own life by inhaling gas in a Baltimore, Md., hotel last Monday.

Smith, who was a postoffice employee, at Baltimore, left a note to his parents in the little Illinois town, in which he implored them to pay the money he said he owed friends. Word of their son's death by his own hand was received by Mr. and Mrs. Smith Monday night.

Leaves Death Note
The following note to his parents was found in the young man's room by his landlady after Smith's body had been found stretched across the bed in his room.

"Dear Folks: I have no explanation whatever to offer only that in the last two years everything has gone wrong. It I fall in this attempt please take me away where I will not see any of these people I know. I will say I wish you will try to pay the $300 and $80 and $21 which I owe. I know no one knows what it is to have everything go wrong, and no fault of their own."

Mrs. Clara Hoss, owner of the rooming house in which Smith lived, noticed the odor of gas coming from the young man's room. She called the police and the door to the room was forced open. Smith had placed a gas tube in his mouth and was dead when found.

The windows and transoms in the room had been stuffed with towels to aid the attempt at suicide.

Gives Suicide Verdict
According to word from Franklin Grove today, the young man was to be taken to the Illinois town for burial. Coroner Nevett issued a certificate of suicide.

Smith went to Washington from Franklin Grove four years ago and he immediately was employed in the postoffice. He was not married.

One Case Infantile Paralysis in Dixon

Infantile paralysis has made its appearance in Dixon, according to a statement made public today by Dr. J. B. Werren, city health physician, but is not prevalent to an extent that should cause any alarm. One case has come to the attention of the city health department within the city limits and according to Dr. Werren this is a very mild one and the child will doubtless completely recover without suffering any permanent effect. The case is being closely watched with a view of preventing a spread as has been experienced in other cities in this locality.

A great deal depends upon the support given by the physicians," Dr. Werren stated. "Close observation is very essential and an immediate report of any cases that might develop as equally as important. The one case under observation is a very mild one and the child is recovering nicely."

It is reported today that another case of a 19-year-old boy in Palmyra was under close observation but attending physicians had not reported a fully developed case.

Sister-in-Law of Chief Justice Farmer Killed

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Effingham, Ill., Sept. 17.—Mrs. F. E. Rice, 51, sister of Mrs. Farmer of Vandalia, wife of Chief Justice Farmer of the Illinois Supreme Court, was killed in an automobile accident near St. Elmo, at 6 o'clock this morning, when a sedan automobile in which she was riding forced off the pavement and turned over. Mrs. Rice's head was practically severed from her body by the glass of the car, which was being driven by Mrs. S. F. Henry who was taking two nieces to St. John's Hospital in St. Louis for nurses' training. Other members of the party were badly bruised and cut.

Mayor Revokes Permit Under Which "Dugout" Operated: It's Shut

The license permitting the firm of Hartman & Eastman to conduct a soft drink parlor at 91 Hennepin avenue, was revoked this morning by order of Mayor Frank D. Palmer, acting on the recommendation made by the city council in its regular weekly session last evening. Charles E. Miller, commissioner of public health and safety presented the recommendation which met with the unanimous approval of the council. Commissioner Valle suggested that the revoking of the license be made permanent, but no action was taken on his amendment.

Chief VanBibber served the notice of revocation this morning and removed the license. The action followed a raid on the place, which is known as "The Dug Out," on Saturday night by police and sheriff's forces.

MANY JOIN IN FIGHT TO SAVE LIFE OF YOUTH

Concerted Effort Made in Behalf of Bernard Grant.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Sept. 17.—Clarence Darrow, attorney, whose pleas saved Nathan Leopold Jr., and Richard Loeb, from the gallows, a business organization and a church society have joined a fight to save Bernard Grant from hanging October 17.

Mr. Darrow, in response to a telegram from counsel for Grant, today telegraphed from Chicago, Mich., that he would return to Chicago the forepart of next week and "will be glad to do what I can."

The South Central Association, an organization of South State Street business men in Chicago, in a resolution sent to Gov. Small requested commutation of Grant's sentence to one of life imprisonment, "that it may not be said that there is inequality in the law between the rich and poor in the state of Illinois." The resolution referred to the sentence of Loeb and Leopold for the kidnapping and murder of Robert Franks and to the fact that they are millionaires' sons.

Thomas E. Swanson, attorney for Grant, also has received from the men's bible class of the Methodist Church at Greenwood, Ind., a copy of a letter the class had sent to Gov. Small. It read:

"Believing thoroughly that there should be no discrimination in criminal cases in this country in favor of wealth and that even the hint of such a condition should be promptly met, we, the Men's Bible Class of the Methodist Church at Greenwood, Ind., earnestly solicit clemency at your hands in behalf of Bernard Grant."

United States Air Mail Field, Fort Crook, Neb., Sept. 17.—American's round the world army fliers, en route to the west coast, added about 400 more miles to their long journey today when they flew here from Chicago.

They landed about 10 miles south of Omaha, at 12:55 p. m., central standard time 4 hours and 44 minutes from the time they left Chicago at 8:11 a. m.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 17.—The world fliers circled over Omaha at 12:50 p. m. after crossing the Missouri river from Council Bluffs, Ia.

The airman circled the city only once and after flying over Ak-Sar-Ben Field, the old air mail landing field, they headed for Fort Crook, a few miles south of here, where they will land.

OVER LEE CO. THIS MORN
The Round the World Fliers on the home stretch of their globe-encircling flight which brings to the United States first honors in completing this stupendous feat, winged their way over Lee county this morning on their way to Omaha. At 9:05 the three army planes, flying in close wedge formation, not very high, passed over the Peoria Road about fifteen miles due south of Dixon, where a Telegraph reporter was stationed to check the flight for this paper and The Associated Press.

Five minutes behind the three army planes a lone flier, piloting the photographic plane, followed American's air heroes.

The air and sky were brilliantly clear as the round the world fliers swept out of the east, roared overhead for a moment and faded out to mere dots and then disappeared in the west this morning.

Lee county roads, all along the line of flight were dotted with automobile loads of people straining their eyes for a sight of the fliers.

U. S. Air Mail Field, Maywood, Ill., Sept. 17.—(By The Associated Press)—The round the world fliers hopped off from the air mail field here at 8:11 a. m., on the next stage of the journey, the 440 mile flight to Omaha. Flying conditions were ideal and Lieut. Lowell Smith, the commander, said he expected to reach Fort Crook Field, Omaha, in about six hours.

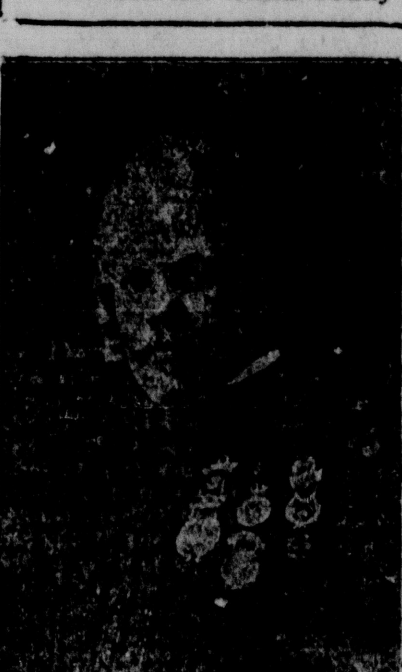

Lieut. Smith was the first to take the air in his flag plane Chicago at 8:11 a. m. After him went Lieut. Wade in the Boston II at 8:11 1/2. Lieut. Nelson in the New Orleans way off the ground at 8:12.

Turning slightly to the left the three planes quickly were in formation and at an altitude of about 500 feet headed straight into the west. They planned a straight airway course to Davenport, Ia. where the planes will circle once over the Tri-Cities.

Pretty Start Made
Lieut. Smith was hardly off the ground before Lieut. Wade was roaring after him. The wheels on Lieut. Wade's plane were just leaving the earth when Lieut. Nelson was after him. The three planes were nearly 100 feet in the air before they emerged from the clouds of dust created in their take-off. All three had ascended in a few seconds less than a minute. The six remaining army planes

MARTIN PETERMAN OF FRANKLIN WAS CALLED YESTERDAY

Passed Away Suddenly at His Home; Funeral at Church Tomorrow.

(Telegraph Special Service)
Franklin Grove, Ill., Sept. 17.—Martin V. Peterman, for many years one of Franklin Grove's leading business men, and a member of the Lee County Republican Central Committee, in which capacity he had planned to attend today's luncheon and meeting of the committee at Lowell Park Lodge, Dixon, died suddenly at his home here at 5:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. His passing followed a period of failing health extending over several years.

Private funeral services will be held at the home at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon, after which the body will be taken to the Presbyterian church where it will lie in state until 2 o'clock, at which time services will be held at the church. The Masonic orders, of which Mr. Peterman was a member will have charge of the services.

Native of Chicago
Mr. Peterman was born in Chicago, but he entered the mercantile business in his youth at the R. L. Burdell store in Erie. Later he went to Walnut where he conducted a dry goods store, selling out there many years ago to move to Franklin Grove where he continued in business until his death.

He is survived by his widow; two sons, George, who assisted him in the store, and Martin, Jr., Republican nominee for State Attorney of Ogle county; and two brothers, John L. and Nicholas, both of Chicago.

Mr. Peterman was one of the outstanding men of the community, straight forward business methods, a fine personality and strict integrity won him a host of friends and insured his success in the business world.

Wilbur Was Recalled to Discuss Naval Affairs

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Sept. 17.—It was reported at the White House today that the return of Secretary Wilbur had been requested by President Coolidge because "important naval matters made it necessary to see him at once."

At the same time it was officially denied that the president had heard of any criticism of any speeches made on the Pacific coast by Secretary Wilbur or any comment concerning them other than that they had been helpful.

Davis in Des Moines.

TEMPLARS TO GO TO CONCLAVE IN SPECIAL TRAIN

Dixon and Sterling Commanderies to Board Special.

Members of Dixon Commandery No. 21, Knights Templar, will leave here Thursday afternoon, Sept. 25, on a special train for Springfield where they will attend the annual convocation of the Grand Commandery. The special train will leave Freeport, with the Knights of that city, at noon. Here Dixon Commandery and Sterling Commandery will take the train, each organization having two Pullmans. The special will arrive in Springfield about 6 p. m.

At 8 o'clock the reception and grand ball in honor of the Grand Commandery officers will be held in the Armory. The parade will take place on Friday morning at 9 o'clock and it is expected that about 10,000 Knights will be in line.

Friday afternoon the review of all the Commanderies of the state will be held on the state fair grounds and Saturday afternoon the competitive drill will take place.

The officers and St. Knights of Springfield Commandery and their ladies have spared no efforts to make this meeting a grand success.

OMAHA OR FORT WORTH TO GET NEXT MEETING

American Legion Considers Only Two Cities.

BULLETIN
St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 17.—Omaha was selected as the 1925 national convention city of the American Legion at today's session of the sixth annual convention here.

The date for the 1925 convention will be set before adjournment of the present gathering. The unofficial vote was Omaha 594 and Fort Worth 453.

The convention also accepted the report of the time and place committee, recommending acceptance of Philadelphia's invitation for the 1926 convention.

When Commander Quinn introduced former Judge K. M. Landis "as a man who had given him the counsel of a father in the past year" a demonstration without parallel broke out in the convention.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 17.—Omaha and Fort Worth are the only cities that will be considered for the 1925 convention of the American Legion, the sixth annual convention decided here today.

With the annual parade out of the way, organization politics came in for some consideration as delegates entered the third day of the convention. Scant attention was given to politics previous to the parade, as preparations for this pageant—a stirring review of 25,000 men—occupied idle moments of the delegates' time. Talk of General Pershing as the successor to National Commander J. R. Quinn, continued today, but there appeared a deeper current in evidence since the convention opened, pointing strongly to others as well.

Among those normally familiar with convention politics, the names of James J. Drain of Washington, D. C., is figuring prominently, while others, including J. J. Bullington of Illinois also are being mentioned. Many predict a "dark horse" will be chosen.

Addresses by former Judge K. M. Landis, baseball high commissioner, and George L. Berry, president of the International Pressmen's Union, were among the scheduled events of today's business session.

An aftermath of the great parade yesterday is scheduled to come tonight with selection of winners of bands and drum corps contests. The units to compete in the finals were selected by judges during the parade.

Finalists in the drum corps competition are Walter E. Craig post No. 60, Rockford, Ill.; Racine post No. 76, Racine, Wis.; Kankakee post No. 85, Kankakee, Ill.; Omaha post No. 1, Omaha, Neb., and Major "Tiger" post No. 75, Fond du Lac, Wis.

Racine, Wis., with their "The Spirit of '76" won first prize in the floats section of yesterday's parade.

BODIES OF 21 MINERS TAKEN FROM WORKING

Identification of Many Victims of Blast in Wyoming is Slow

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Kemmerer, Wyo., Sept. 17.—Rescue parties penetrating the debris-laden workings of the mine of the Kemmerer Coal Company at Sublet, near here today had recovered the bodies of 21 miners, victims of yesterday's explosion.

As fast as the bodies are recovered they are being brought to Kemmerer where two improvised morgues have been set up. Identification is slow as many of the bodies have been mutilated.

Many reports are in circulation as to the cause of the explosion. One is that it was caused when a spark flashed as a tool scraped against the side of a coal car.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Kemmerer, Wyo., Sept. 17.—The little mining camp of Sublet, Wyo., today was gathered about the mouth of the mine number 5 of the Kemmerer Coal Company waiting for the earth to give up its dead.

After an all night vigil about the mouth of the mine in which were trapped 47 miners as the result of an explosion at 11:45 o'clock yesterday morning, watching wives, children and relatives were waiting for rescue workers to bring to the surface 35 bodies of the apparently doomed miners.

A ray of hope was injected into the rain-soaked atmosphere early last night when twelve of the entombed miners reached the mouth of the workings unharmed. Saved from almost certain death from gasses by a cave in, the little band of 12 crawled out of the wrecked mouth of the mine at about 5:30 o'clock last night, headed by three brothers, Spencer, Jake and Denver Hyfield.

Rescue May Take Weeks

Reports brought back by rescue workers indicated that it might be weeks before a complete check up could be obtained and all bodies removed from the mine because of the devastated condition of the workings. Tram car rails were twisted like hair pins and brace timbers blown to bits by the terrific explosion, rescue workers reported.

Several bodies, including one headless corpse, were seen by the workers who at a late hour last night had not been able to bring them out of the mine.

Rescue work is hampered by the almost impassable condition of the roads leading to the little mining settlement because of torrential rains during the last 24 hours.

A mine rescue car sent from Trinidad, Colorado, yesterday afternoon was due in here early today to lend apparatus and men to the gruesome task of removing the bodies of the miners.

Entertain No Hopes.

Company officials declared late last night that they entertained no hope that any miners, with the exception of the escaped dozen had survived the blast and the following small fires and accumulation of deadly gasses.

Despite this announcement, hundreds of bereaved and stricken relatives, bolstered up by the escape of the twelve survivors, maintained an all-night watch around the mouth of the mine, hoping against hope that the earth would return to them their loved ones unharmed.

The extreme violence of the explosion was indicated by tales told by surface workers, gathered near the mouth of the mine at the time the explosion occurred. The shed covering the mouth of the workings, more than 200 feet long, was completely wrecked, according to eye witnesses and columns of gasses and smoke were blown from the mine mouth, nearly wrecking the engine house several hundred yards distant.

A force of more than 200 rescue workers continued through the night their unremitting and hazardous labor in an effort to penetrate the depths of the mine early today, the hope of clearing up the mine and of bringing the dead to the surface for possibly several days was abandoned by mine officials.

Caverly's Decision is Basis for Mercy Plea for Young Mr. Dalton

BULLETIN
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Sept. 17.—Willie Dalton, the boy bank messenger who fled from the Northern Trust Company Bank in 1921 with $772,000 in Liberty bonds was acquitted by a jury today. It was his third trial two juries having disagreed.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Sept. 17.—A jury in the third trial of Willie Dalton, whose attorneys say he was only 15 1/2 years old when he ran away with $772,000 in Liberty bonds from the Northern Trust Company bank in 1921 was given the case shortly after noon today after Dalton's attorneys asked that he be acquitted in view of the Loeb-Leopold case. Counsel for the boy asked that the same benefit of doubt be given him as was extended to Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb who on account of their youth received life imprisonment instead of a sentence of death for the murder of Robert Franks.

Assistant State's Attorney William F. McLaughlin declared the crime was "one of the biggest bank robberies in modern times" and told the jury that if they acquitted Dalton, "you are sending out a message which amounts to a legal license to boys of tender years to steal."

All the bonds except $500 were recovered.

PARKING PLOT ON RIVER BANK SEEMS A BRIGHT PROSPECT

Council Finds Support of Citizens in Move to Acquire Land.

Prospects for the city's securing property fronting on the south bank of Rock river from Peoria avenue, east to Galena avenue, appears very favorable, according to a report made to the city council last evening by Commissioner W. V. Slothower and J. E. Valle, who were appointed a special committee to canvass the project a week ago. The council learned from the committee that they had called on Attorney Henry S. Dixon with reference to land owned by him west of the Boyer property on the west side of Galena avenue and extending west to almost Peoria avenue. The report indicated that Mr. Dixon was heartily in accord with the action of the city council to provide a parking space for automobiles and the project of beautifying the river bank.

Commissioner Slothower stated that the land was not for sale but that the owner would consent to its disposal to the city for this purpose. The Boyer property, it was reported, was available but the committee reported that Thomas Young had invited condemnation proceedings to bring about the purchase of property now used as a coal yard on the east side of Galena avenue and extending easterly to the site of the new hydro plant.

Bond Issue Likely.

The special committee also reported that it may be necessary to vote a bond issue to cover the improvements contemplated. A concrete retaining wall the greater part of the distance from Peoria avenue east to Ottawa avenue would be necessary. It was explained and a great deal of filling would be required to bring the property up to a street level. Members of the council reported that the action appeared to have met with almost the unanimous approval of the citizens and that it was one of the most popular moves made by the present city council.

Admits Using Gun.

Mayor Johnston when interviewed at the noon hour, was lying on a cot in his home in the southeast part of town. He made no denial of the fact that he struck the young woman with a billy club and when questioned by Sheriff Risley admitted that he pulled the trigger and that the gun failed to explode.

"I was forced to take this action to defend myself," he said. "They were crowding in too close and I drew the revolver to disperse the crowd. They got me down and almost broke my leg, bruised and scratched me in taking away the gun and club. I have the names of several members of the party."

Questioned as to his reason for trying to do away with the pup, which was said by many of the business men to be a pet among the children of the village, the mayor gave his reasons as follows:

Quoted Law of 1896.
"There is a law which was passed in 1896 which provides that all dogs must be muzzled during certain months of the year. We have an ordinance to that effect here in Franklin Grove. I have tried to enforce this ordinance repeatedly but they have openly opposed me. I have had notices printed and served but dogs have not been muzzled. I merely picked up Zoeller's dog this morning to take it to the railroad yards where I intended shooting it. I took it to the railroad yards as a precautionary measure and so that the bullet would not endanger public life."

Mayor's Dog Unmuzzled.
Asked if any dogs in the town had been muzzled since he sent out his decrees some weeks ago, the mayor responded that to his knowledge but one muzzle had been purchased in the village and that had not been used.

Hay Myers of Oregon was in Dixon today to see his brother, Don, who is recuperating from an operation at the local hospital.

Said to Have Struck the Girl and Pulled Gun on Her This Morning

The business section of the peaceful village of Franklin Grove was the scene of a riot this morning at about 10 o'clock and shortly before the noon hour the sheriff's office was called upon to send a force of deputies to the village. Sheriff Elliott C. Risley and several deputies made a hurried trip to the village and started an investigation which at press time was still under way. No arrests had been made at the late hour, however, but there were prospects that Mayor George W. Johnston would be taken in custody this afternoon on a serious charge.

MAYOR BEATEN UP.
Mayor Johnston is confined to his home suffering from injuries sustained when he was overpowered by a crowd of citizens on the right of way of the Chicago & North Western which passes through the heart of the village, and disarmed. A stuffed leather billy and a .32 caliber Iver Johnson revolver were turned over to members of the sheriff's force at noon today as weapons said to have been taken from the mayor.

PET DOG IN CASE.
A rat terrier pup, a pet owned by Miss Bertha Zoeller, daughter of Louis Zoeller, proprietor of a restaurant, was the cause of the entire outbreak it appeared. Mayor Johnston appeared in the business section in front of the Zoeller place of business about 10 o'clock this morning and picked up the pet pup, which he said to have tried to choke to death. Miss Zoeller ran out into the street, begging for her pet, which the mayor picked up and started toward the railroad yard.

While the girl was imploring the official to release her pet, Mayor Johnston is charged with having struck the young woman over the forehead with a stuffed leather billy club. Several business men witnessed the affair and went to the young woman's rescue. As the mayor started for the railroad yards, the young woman following and continuing her pleadings for her pet, the official is said to have displayed the revolver which he pressed to her breast and pulled the trigger. The revolver, which is of an ancient type, failed to discharge, which is probably accountable for the fact that a murder was not committed.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS.
Don't Starch It.

Linen that is to be put away and used infrequently should never be starched, as the starch often causes it to crack along the edges where it is folded.

Will Absorb Grease.

The grease that collects on the top of soup will be absorbed if you throw in a piece of celery top or a lettuce or cabbage leaf.

Substantial Breakfast.

On a very warm day, physicians say it is advisable to eat a substantial breakfast and make luncheon a very light affair.

Easy to Clean.

The pot in which you bake your beans will be much easier to wash if you grease it with a piece of salt pork or bacon before putting in the beans.

Excellent Mixture.

Chopped onion, celery and olives mixed with mayonnaise or French dressing make an excellent mixture to serve in scooped out tomatoes.

Add Toilet Water.

You can scent your collars and cuffs very faintly by adding a bit of toilet water to the hot starch in which they are dipped.

SUGGESTION

The man seated himself in a restaurant and made a long study of the menu.

"Waiter," he said at length, "I have only two shillings. What would you suggest?"

The waiter removed the menu before adding: "Another restaurant."—Passing Show.

Menus for a Family

Tested by C. SISTER MARY.

Breakfast—Baked pears, whole wheat cereal with thin cream, fried bread, maple syrup, toasted corn muffins, butter, cocoa, coffee.

Luncheon—Vegetable chowder, peanut butter sandwiches, baked apples, rolled oats cookies, milk, tea.

Dinner—Braised lamb with vegetables, endive and tomato salad, baked peach custard, whole wheat bread and butter, milk, tea.

Corn bread or muffins a day old are split and toasted for the whole family.

Even the 4-year-old child may eat this "quick" bread after it has received this treatment and will undoubtedly like it with his cocoa.

A piece of lamb from the forequarter is cooked with potatoes, carrots and peas for dinner, providing a sort of one-dish meal for the entire family on mother's busy day.

The dinner dessert is particularly nourishing to follow a light meat course.

Children under 6 years should not be given the fried bread suggested for breakfast, nor the endive and tomato salad for dinner.

Fried Bread.

Six slices stale bread cut 1/4 inch thick, 2 eggs, two-thirds cup milk, 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Beat eggs slightly with salt and milk. Dip each slice of bread into batter and fry a golden brown first on one side and then on the other. Serve immediately with syrup.

Vegetable Chowder.

One cup grated corn, 2 cups potato cubes, 1 medium sized onion, 1/2 cup diced carrots, 1/2 cup diced celery, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 soda crackers, 1/2 teaspoon pepper.

Melt butter, add onion peeled and cut in thin slices. Cook over a low fire for five minutes. Add potatoes, carrots and celery and pour over boiling water to cover. Boil 20 minutes and add corn. Boil 15 minutes and add salt. Cook about 10 minutes longer. Heat milk in top of double boiler and add to vegetables. Split crackers and dip in cold milk. Put in soup tureen, pour over chowder, sprinkle with pepper and serve.

Peach Custard.

Three very ripe peaches, 3 eggs, 1 cup milk, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Pare peaches and cut in half. Put one-half in each custard cup, cut side up. Beat eggs with sugar, salt and milk until very light. Fill cups with custard, put in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven half an hour. Do not let the water surrounding the cups boil during the baking. (Copyright, 1924, FEA Service, Inc.)

It Sounds Good; Hope It's Practical

Springfield, Ill.—Six dresses, costing one dollar each to make and part of a complete street costume costing $5.50 are attracting many women to the exhibit of the State Fair school of Domestic Science. The Fair school, held in connection with the Illinois State Fair, is in charge of Mrs. Frank I. Mann. It is she that is responsible for the creation of the inexpensive costumes.

The complete costume consists of a dress, coat and hat. Mrs. Mann has estimates to show that the dress costs one dollar, the hat one dollar, and the coat $3.50.

During the sessions of the Domestic Science classes, attended by girls from all over the state, Mrs. Mann is demonstrating to the girls how dresses can be made at such a small cost.

Mrs. Mann described several of the dresses for the benefit of newspaper correspondents.

"One is brown and white lawn, trimmed with bands of brown, simply made but considered smart," she said. "It required three and one-half yards of material and took about the same number of hours to make."

"All the dresses are of simple lines and were fashioned from one pattern. Some of the dresses have sleeves 'set in' and others are of the simple 'buttery' pattern. By simply adding panels or a few tucks, changing the neckline, subtracting the sash or adding a few touches of embroidery one dress can be made to look entirely different from another though both have been cut from the same pattern."

"One is a green percale, white dotted, with a neck ruffle of white or-gandie, hand plaited, and extending to the waist. Another is made of unbleached muslin trimmed with applique flowers.

"The coat is made of soft grey cloth, the material costing $3.50 and three and one-half yards used. Strips of material have been used as trimming. The lining is made from an old worn out foulard dress."

Miss McFadden in Radio Program

Miss Agnes McFadden of Amboy R. No. 4, who represents this county at the State Fair School of Domestic Science at Springfield this week, took an active part in the radio program given by the school at Station WLS on Monday, according to word received here.

In addition to songs and "stunts" by the girls, there were talks by Mrs. George E. McMahon, Olney, president of the school; Mrs. H. A. McKee, Springfield, secretary; and Mrs. Lena S. Mann, Gilman, a director. They told the story of the organization of the school and its aims for bettering living in Illinois.

Lynn Pine of Dixon, and Frank M. Myard of Amboy, who are in Springfield representing the county at the Illinois State Fair School for Boys, took part in a similar program put on at the radio station on Wednesday.

Fifty-four Attend Missionary Meeting

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Grace Evangelical church held its regular monthly meeting at the church on Tuesday afternoon.

After the singing of the opening song Mrs. Crews read the Scripture lesson and three of the members led in prayer. Another song was sung.

After which Mrs. Richardson took charge of the topic and lesson on "The Evangelicals at Home Base in Europe." The lesson was presented in a very interesting manner. Mrs. Buzard read an instructive leaflet entitled "Stewardship." A piano solo by Miss Josephine Anderson and a quartette by the Crews Brothers was enjoyed by all. After some business in charge of Mrs. O. E. Strock, the president, the meeting closed by repeating John 3:16. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Ringler and Mrs. Richardson to fifty-four members and friends.

Entertained with Picnic Dinner

Thirty-five relatives of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Phillips gathered at their home Sunday and enjoyed a picnic dinner in honor of their wedding anniversary, which took place Friday.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Willis Phillips and family, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Phillips and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Phillips and family, and Clyde Krehl, of Franklin Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Phillips of Sterling; Mrs. A. E. Simonsen, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Beichtel and son, Mr. and Mrs. Pauth Bothe, of Dixon; Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Bothe and family and Mr. and Mrs. Wynn Seybert and family, who reside near Dixon.

BETHEL U. E. SOCIETY TO MEET

The Bethel U. E. Society will meet Thursday with Mrs. George Weyant in Grand Detour, and a picnic dinner will be enjoyed at noon. Members will meet at the church at 10:30.

WERE ENTERTAINED OVER THE WEEK-END

Mrs. W. R. Zupf and son, Francis, were entertained over the week-end at the Ed. Cole home in Sterling.

TO MOTOR TO CHICAGO FRIDAY

Mrs. Walter Saunders and daughter, Betty, will motor to Chicago Friday for a visit with Mrs. Frank Conrad.

FEMININE BOWS

There is something fascinatingly feminine about the row of black satin bows that trim the front of this smart bengaline dress, and they contribute lightness to what would otherwise be a very serious looking outfit. The lace collars and cuffs are detachable so that they may be cleaned frequently and kept immaculate. The wearing quality of bengaline and the conservative cut of the frock make it a most safe investment.

Annual Reunion of the Hoyle Family

The Hoyle family held their annual reunion Sunday at Lowell Park. There were 105 present, including several guests as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Hoyle and Mrs. Ellen Lease, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hoyle and daughter, Gladys, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hoyle and family, Mrs. Abner Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ringler, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shoemaker, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hoyle, daughter, Miss Blanche and son, Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Glessner and son, Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Glessner and son, Lyle, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hoyle and family and friends, Louis Plock, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hoyle, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hoyle and family, Mrs. L. E. Etnyre, Mrs. Roy Lapham, Mr. and Mrs. John Hoyle and daughter, Trivette, Frank Hoyle and daughter, Dorothy, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hoyle and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hoyle and son, Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buzard and family and friends, Miss Viola Fowers and Dale Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Will Richardson and daughter, LaFerne, Mrs. Harvey Buzard and daughter, Ada, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pelton and daughter, Jeanette, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lenox and family, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Howard and family, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ringler and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hill and little son, Junior, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fritz and daughter, Charlotte, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lautzenheiser, George Fritz, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fritz, who reside in Waukegan, Ill., had just arrived in Dixon the evening before for a short visit, and were fortunate enough to be in time for the picnic.

Picnic dinner and ice cream were served at noon. Coffee was prepared in the quaint little stone building, but it required the combined efforts and energy of several cooks and firemen to persuade the ancient rolls that pass for a stove to heat up sufficiently for the purpose. (Note: Bring piece of stove pipe to next picnic.)

During the afternoon the Crews' brothers quartette favored with several songs and Little Virginia Brown spoke an original piece about the Hoyle reunion. It was planned to have another reunion next year, as everyone enjoyed this one so much.

Clyde Scott and Margaret Vaile Wed

A marriage of much interest to Dixon, Sterling and Rock Falls people, took place Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the parsonage to St. Patrick's Catholic church in Dixon. Rev. Father Michael Foley solemnizing the ceremony, uniting the lives of Clyde Scott of Rock Falls and Margaret Vaile of Dixon. In the presence of a few relatives, Henry Cavanaugh of Polo and Miss Geraldine McCrystal of Dixon attended the young couple.

The attractive bride was modestly attired in a blue suit, her hat, gloves, slippers and hose being in fawn color. She wore a corsage bouquet of bridal roses. Her bridesmaid was pleasingly gowned in taupe color.

After the ceremony a wedding luncheon was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vaile of North Hennepin avenue, which was attended by a few of the immediate relatives. The bride is a niece of Mr. Vaile.

A tempting luncheon was served, pink and white flowers being used in decorating the table and these dainty colors being carried out in the favors and other decorations throughout the home.

The guests at the luncheon included Miss Eva Scott of Rock Falls, aunt of the bridegroom, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cavanaugh of Polo.

Mrs. Scott, a charming Dixon girl, has hosts of friends here who wish the young people every happiness in their new life. She has been one of the most efficient of the night telephone operators here and will be missed at the office.

The bridegroom has always resided in Rock Falls and enjoys a wide circle of friends who extend their best wishes at this time.

The couple left for Denver, Colo., where they will spend their honeymoon and will also visit other interesting places.

Mr. Scott holds a responsible position in the C. B. & Q. freight office in Rock Falls. The couple will make their home in that city.

Ladies G. A. R. Held Pleasant Meeting

The Ladies' of the G. A. R. held their regular meeting Monday evening at G. A. R. hall with a very good attendance.

Several applications for memberships were approved. Mrs. Mathilda Brown, Department Inspector of Sterling, was present and gave a short talk.

Mrs. Jake Fassler, Mrs. John Hetler and Mrs. Elizabeth Close will entertain the Ladies' of G. A. R. and comrades at the home of Mrs. Fassler, 805 West First street, on Friday afternoon, Sept. 19th.

The meeting closed in regular form to meet again Monday afternoon, Sept. 29th.

Madelyn Huggins Had Birthday Party

Madelyn Huggins was eight years old yesterday and this event was happily observed at her home in the afternoon when she entertained a company of ten little friends. A gay time was spent in games and the feature of the birthday luncheon, the pink and white cake being the center of admiration for the little folks.

Miss Madelyn received many pretty gifts with the best wishes of her little friends for future happy birthdays.

LEFT FOR ROSARY COLLEGE TODAY

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rink, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Sara Elizabeth Rink, left this morning by automobile for Chicago. Miss Rink will specialize at the Rosary College finishing school in instrumental music and will continue her vocal studies under the tutelage of Madame Hees-Burr, who has been Miss Rink's instructor for two years.

DON'T PAY

For beauty you fail to get By Edna Wallace Hopper

I am not a cosmetic maker, not a beauty expert. My work is on the stage and screen. But I have had advantages which most girls and women lack. I had a rich, ambitious mother who took me in a world - search for the utmost in beauty helps. Then when I became a famous beauty, great scientist Edna Wallace Hopper who made a Photo 1923 discovery sent it at once to me. Now I wish all girls and women to share that good fortune with me. I found helps which multiplied my beauty, and which have kept my youthful beauty to by grand old age. And great experts tell me that every woman can in like ways secure like results.

So I am placing these helps, which I spent a lifetime in finding, at every woman's call. All druggists and toilet counters now supply them. But with each comes a guarantee. I instruct every dealer to return the money to anyone disappointed, and charge the amount to me.

My marvelous complexion is largely due to a super-cream. It combines the products of both lemon and strawberry. Also all the best that modern science knows to foster, feed and protect the skin. I use it as a night cream, also daytimes as a powder base. Never is my skin without it. And my per. Photo 1923, age, shows how much it means to women. No woman I have ever met has ever found a cream to compare.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream is now supplied by all druggists and toilet counters at 60c per jar and 35c per tube. But I shall be glad to send a free sample, if you wish. Just mail the coupon for it, and my Beauty Book will come with it.

ONE-YEAR CAMPAIGN ISSUES.

Campaign issues are made to appear to be matters of life and death, then are forgotten. They fall into what Grover Cleveland called innocuous desuetude.

Thirty years ago a policy of free trade, or tariff for revenue only, left the country wrecked. The government was issuing bonds to meet running expenses, factories were closed, and farmers were flat on their backs. In 1896 was a presidential campaign. The democrats could not go to the people with their old issue, so they permitted the populists to control their affairs. They came forth with a cure for all ills. It was free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. It had not been the democratic policy that had ruined the country's business, but Wall street, they said. William J. Bryan was nominated for the presidency and he was spokesman for the silverites.

William McKinley said what we needed was not the opening of the mints, but the opening of the mills and the mines. He was elected and the Dingley protective tariff law was passed. The mines were opened and wheels of industry began to turn.

In 1900 Bryan was the candidate again. The democrats, with him as a demagogic force, mentioned something about free silver before showing it the rear door, and Bryan could see that this country was about to be wrecked on the rock of imperialism. Since his prior appearance the Spanish war had been fought. We had paid ten or twenty millions of dollars to Spain for the Philippine islands, had established a protective over Cuba, and Porto Rico had become one of our possessions.

It was unholy in the eyes of Bryan. We liberated Cuba, pleased Porto Rico, and started preparation of the Filipinos for the day when they may sail alone. The issue of imperialism died. Perhaps, like free silver, it was given a few kind words before being removed from the rear door.

In 1904 the campaign was between Roosevelt and Alton B. Parker of New York. The campaign was nothing to the democrats except as it was a sort of a homecoming for the easterners who had left during the populist control of the party. They came back under leadership of Parker.

In 1908 Bryan was the nominee again, this time against Taft. He brought the issue of a guarantee of bank deposits. We needed that to make the nation safe for the democrats. The issue itself did not create much of a stir. Oklahoma was trying it, and the voters thought best to let the state try it a while longer.

In 1912 the democrats did not need an issue. Wilson was elected by a minority popular vote because of the division of republicans.

In 1916 "he kept us out of war," and that issue died in April, 1917.

The democrats controlled the administration from 1912 to 1918, with the president and congress, and had the presidency until 1920. Nothing was heard of the free and unlimited coinage of silver. Nothing was heard of disposing of Porto Rico. The Philippine islands were not turned loose. They only were muzzled up. No body sought to guarantee bank deposits. And we were not kept out of war.

That is the value upon these one-year issues by the party that promised them.

During all of these campaigns the republicans had only one issue, return to the protective tariff, or continuance of it if it were in force, and general prosperity for the nation.

The republicans never have found it necessary to lead their issue out the back door and chloroform it. It is as good today as it was the day it was born.

OVER YOUR HEAD.

While everybody is looking at the heavens, as nearly everybody has been doing lately, why confine attention to Mars and Venus? Why not let the vision range on through the universe?

At the recent gathering of scientists in Toronto, an American astronomer named Silberstein, a disciple of Einstein, gave some facts and figures that might be applied in such observation on any of these clear nights.

How far will you have to look to see to the end of the universe? It is fairly simple, according to Dr. Silberstein's statement. The universe is spherical, and wherever you happen to be, whether in Dixon or the moon or Sirius or some old corner of the Milky Way, is for practical purposes the center of everything. The radius, from your central location to the outer confines of the universe, is a little matter of 114,000,000 "light years."

That is, if you turned on a flash light, it would take that many years for the light to reach the rim of the universe. Or if a star exploded at the rim, it would take that long for the flash to reach you. If you want a more tangible measure, one light year represents 63,000 times the distance from the earth to the sun.

Suppose, then, you let your imagination start on the journey indicated by that stretch of light years. When you get to the outer rim or shell of the universe, Dr. Silberstein explains, you will not really reach a limit. You will not bump into a wall, or fall off into nothing. You will keep right on, straight ahead, the way you have been doing all the time, and eventually you will reach your starting point again in Dixon, or wherever it was.

In other words, your straight line, running through the universe without bending, makes a circle when you stretch it far enough.

These, verily, are matters too deep for us. Still, it's good once in a while for a swimmer to jump in, physically or mentally, over his head.

ASIATIC.

In 10 years the six leading Asiatic countries have increased their exports 84 per cent. This news is delighting business men engaged in foreign trade. They fail to see that the increase is in prices rather than in physical amounts—bushels, tons, bales, etc.

Money is a dangerous inaccurate yardstick in our generation.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 15—CUTIE COTTONTAIL'S SECRET

"I'm never, never, never going to wear you as long as I live," he said to the shoes.

"Well," said Mister Snip Snap to the Twins. "Did you find out what it was that was wearing out Cutie Cottontail's shoes so fast?"

"No, Mister Snip Snap," said Nick. "We didn't. We visited the school in the woods yesterday and all the scholars did was to study spelling and arithmetic and reading and writing. They used their hands a lot, but their feet hardly any at all, and there wasn't anything that would make Cutie's shoes wear out so fast."

"I do declare," said Mister Snip Snap. "It is the greatest mystery I ever heard of. It's as bad as the fairy tale about the seven princesses who danced their shoes to pieces every night and nobody was able to find out where they went. Hal! I have an idea! I have a wonderful idea!"

"What?" cried the Twins just like that.

"Why, if Cutie Cottontail doesn't wear his shoes out in school he must be wearing them out some place else," said the fairyman.

"So he must," said Nancy. "Of course," said Nick. "That's just it!" cried Mister Snip Snap as pleased as Punch about being so smart. "The next thing is to find out where it is and what it is that is doing the damage. After school this afternoon watch and see what Cutie does. The great mystery is about to be solved."

That afternoon, when school was out, Nancy and Nick were waiting. Freddy Frog came out first.

"Here's for the swimming hole," he shouted, hopping away as fast as he could go.

Then came Cob and Corny Coo. "Here's for the sweet corn patch," they yelled, and were off.

Then came Scamper and Scramble Squirrel.

TODAY IN LOCAL HISTORY

Gist of News Gleaned from the Evening Telegraph of Former Years

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY.

Thursday, Sept. 17, 1914.

Mrs. Anna Dornblaser, wife of the Rev. T. F. Dornblaser of Chicago, passed away this morning at 7:30 o'clock. Her death was due to a paralytic stroke with which she was stricken two days ago. Rev. Dornblaser was pastor of the St. Paul's Lutheran church from the year 1895 to the year 1903 and during that time the people of Dixon became fondly attached to the faithful minister and his beloved wife.

George Chaffin of this city has leased the Gateway hall for this season and will open a skating rink on Wednesday and Saturday evenings.

Mrs. Geo. S. Hill passed away at 8:30 today. The funeral will be held at the Hill home, 362 Boyd street, at 10 o'clock, Sept. 19.

Yesterday afternoon at the Methodist parsonage occurred the marriage of Miss Rachel Mary Elmore of Harrison and Mr. George Handberg of Newman, N. Dak. Rev. Fred Stone acting the two happy hearts.

Mrs. Fred M. Smith of East Third street returned home last evening from a month's visit in Canton, Ohio, and other eastern cities.

Misses Emma and Rachel O'Brien delightfully entertained the "Dixie Four" at their home on Hennepin ave.

Farmer Slain in Barnyard:

Unidentified Man Is Held

Richmond, Ill., Sept. 16.—One man, whose name was not revealed, was under arrest here today in connection with the killing yesterday evening of John Nungesser, reputed wealthy farmer, who was slain near his home. That Nungesser had been slain did not become known till hours after his death. It was believed at first he had been killed in a runaway of the team he was taking to the barn. No motive for the killing has yet been found.

Moline Ball Ass'n. Meets.

Moline, Ill., Sept. 16.—Directors of the Moline Valley League, met in regular business session here last night. Only routine matters came up. His were paid, and the season business cleared up. At the annual meeting to be held some time within the next sixty days, elections will be held and other matters disposed of, pertaining to the coming season.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

BY AHERN

THE MAJOR HATES CHAPERONING ALVIN TO THE MOVIES

New York—The story book character of the round-the-world fliers is Lieut. Eric Nelson.

He looks like an adventurer, the type who would be a modern Magellan and skirt the globe, high above the surface of the earth.

His face is as red as a blister, and with the winds of many climes. His hair, rapidly thinning, is grayed. He is large of stature and commanding in appearance. His smile denotes a happy-go-lucky demeanor that takes defeat bravely and success lightly. He is the type authors write about.

Three years ago I saw him for the first time. It was during the Pulitzer air race in Detroit. Unknown to the large crowds that watched the feats of the airmen, it was Nelson who was firmly imbedded in its memory. As might be expected he won the race in which he competed.

Nelson was born in Sweden. There still is a delightful mingling of his native accent in his speech.

Often have to use extreme ingenuity in getting the most from their playthings.

Yesterday I saw two urchins having the most wonderful ride on our roller skate.

One of the boys had the skate attached to his right foot. The other climbed atop the first one's back and perfectly balanced the two rolled along in glee.

William H. Anderson who as an Anti-Saloon League executive was sentenced to Sing Sing for forgery, no longer will be pointed out as one of the interesting inmates of that institution.

On complaint of Anderson, that he was being made center ring of a

For weak Run-down Condition!

THE DOOR of opportunity flings wide its portals only to the man who is up and doing—who is filled with pep and punch—with rich, red blood tingling through his system. Mountain side obstacles dwindle to ant hills and ambitious become accomplishments to these sort of men.

Where is the employer who seeks the man who is physically run-down? The man without stamina to withstand the knocks and gaff of the hurrying, scurrying world of business?

S.S.S. is the long established and time honored creator of red-blooded men. You cannot expect to get very far up the ladder unless you are equipped with a body that is strong and vigorous. S.S.S. will start you on your way. Don't allow the "Door of Opportunity" to be closed to you because you have not the stamina to withstand the gaff—because your nerve power is lacking. Build up your system!

S.S.S. made of carefully selected and scientifically prepared and proportioned herbs and barks makes you fit! Get back that old time punch! When opportunity knocks be ready to answer the call!

THE COLORED SHIRT

This season shows no lessening in the popularity of the colored shirt. It's a style that well dressed men like; it lends itself to a great number of smart color combinations, and it's a welcome change from the monotony of plain white.

The other day we saw a man with a grey suit, a yellow shirt, with bordered collar to match and a deep red tie. Sounds pretty wild, doesn't it? But the effect was not at all garish; that's because the shades were so well chosen.

It's not a bad idea to have a smart suit or two to go with the shirts; you know how it is; a man with a good set of balloon ties really needs a good automobile to enjoy them fully.

Seriously, though, we do have the finest ready to wear clothing in America—Society Brand.

The new low price this year is $40.00 for these fine suits. And Manhattan Shirts with Laundered Collars to match, $3.50 and $4.00.

DIXON GREYS WON
FROM FREEPORT B.
V. D. TEAM SUNDAYJournal-Standard Says
Home Team Was Played
Off Feet in Game.

Freeport Journal-Standard — The Freeport Badger Van Dams took the short end of a 5-2 score at Taylor Park Sunday afternoon when they were forced to bow in defeat to a team from Lee county called the Dixon Greys. It was an exhibition of baseball in which the local boys appeared to be played off their feet at every critical point of the game. The defeat administered the local aggregation can hardly be attributed to the superior playing of the visiting team, but it was the over confident attitude of the B. V. D.'s which cost the home team the third defeat of the season.

Although the Dixonites are a fast lot, the locals should have won easily, for on several occasions during the contest the breaks seemed to favor Freeport considerably, but the locals failed to make good when the opportunities were before them. At no time during the game were the visitors forced to do their best, for when the Freeport aggregation seemed to be gaining ground, the Dixon crew tightened up a bit, and at all times kept the game safely in their grasp. It appears, as one fan said after the game, the Badgers have become so confident during the present season that they expected every game to be handed over without an argument. The entire lineup is due for a severe shakeup, according to the management, and if a decided improvement is not demonstrated during the next few days, when the locals go through their daily practice, a quite different team will probably be in action next Sunday.

Moore, pitching for the visiting aggregation struck out 13 and passed 2, while Kasten, a little off form yesterday, struck out 5 and passed but one. Moore pitched a good game, from the viewpoint of the Dixon boys, and while he struck out 13 Badgers, the locals struck at numerous wild ones, and when they did come right over the plate, the boys failed to see them. Cox, for the visitors clouted out a home run in the sixth inning with one man on bases, and from that point it was hopeless for the locals, although there were several opportunities offered when they might have scored had they been in their regular form, but it seemed they lacked their usual pep yesterday.

The Dixon boys made 11 hits of Kasten, while the Badgers made but

LOWLY TEAMS TURN
ON LEADERS; CUBS
CLIMB UP A PEGReds Divide With New York; Cardinals Swamp
Robins.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
"The dance of the turning worms" was presented yesterday by a chorus which included the Cardinals, Reds, Phillies and Athletics. The Browns and Indians were also billed for the act but the former were delayed by rain and the latter missed their cue. The Cardinals scored the biggest hit of the day by smothering Brooklyn under a 17-3 score which dragged the Robins another half game away from the Giants and nearer the Pittsburgh honors with six consecutive hits, including two home runs in succession and established what is thought to be a modern league record by driving in 12 runs.

Cincinnati collaborated by splitting a double header with the Giants, losing their first game 5-1 when the leaders bunched hits off Mays and winning the second 3-1 by good box work of Donohue and May. The former allowed only one hit in seven frames and May shook off the Giants when they crowded Donohue in the eighth.

Pirates Divided Bill.
"The lowly Phillies," arouse to divide a double bill with the Pirates. One big inning in which Cooper was touched for seven hits and six runs lost the first game 6-5, for the corsairs who came back strongly to win the second 13-7 after Kremer had been shelled off the hill.

Schmidt hit a homer with the sacks loaded in the second game, Glen Wright, made eight consecutive hits in both contests and Cuyler had a homer, two doubles and a single. The Giants are still two and one half games ahead of the Pirates who are now only one game behind Brooklyn.

While the Yanks watched the rain at St. Louis, Washington broke the ties for first place, and took a half game lead in the race by beating Cleveland 6-2. In a pitching duel with Zachary, Coleskie weakened in the eighth, allowing five hits and five runs.

Tigers are Defeated
Eddie Rommel held Detroit to seven hits, while his mates batted out a 14-2 Athletic victory which shoved the Tigers five games behind the leaders and virtually out of the race. Hale had four hits. Shagley's third base hit, with the bases full in the first inning, gave the White Sox, a commanding lead which developed into an 8-4 victory. Falk made four hits.

The Cubs instituted a bit of movement in the submerged portions of the National League, by winning twice from Boston by scores of 8-3 and 4-2 and going into fourth place. Jacobs held the Braves to five hits in the first contest. Brancroft's fielding was spectacular.

All-Chicagos to Meet Sterling in Two Games
Chicago—The Peking baseball club evidently decided that the manner in which the Sterling legion club disposed of the D'Dubque, Ia., club of the Mississippi Valley League and the Bloomington team of the Three Eye League, that Sterling was too fast for them. They called off the game here for next Saturday and Sunday and in their place the All-Chicagos will be here. This is a strong team, having won 28 games and lost but six during the present season.

PRINCIPALS OF

DeKalb, Ill.—Illinois public school principals are urged to take part in the Big Ten Athletic conference campaign against professionalism in athletics in a circular made public today. The circular is to be mailed to all school principals in Illinois by the Illinois High School Athletic association.

The circular says:
"Last year your attention was called to a campaign initiated by the directors of the Big Ten athletic conference to eliminate certain evils from college athletics. The evils chiefly aimed at were:

"Illegitimate methods of recruiting prospective athletes.
"Professionalism in college athletics.
"The Board of control of the I. N. S. A. A. has noted with great satisfaction and entire approval the thorough measures adopted by the Big Ten in the sincere effort being made to enforce the conference rules relative to these matters. And at this time we again urge upon all Illinois principals a cordial cooperation with the conference directors in the interest of freeing college athletics from these evils.

"If you know of any attempt on the part of any representative, official or unofficial, of any college to recruit prospective athletes through improper inducements; or if you know of any college athlete who is guilty of professionalism as defined by the conference authorities, you will render a distinct service to the cause of athletics by sending detailed information either to C. W. Whitte, DeKalb, or to Major John L. Griffith, Commissioner of Athletics of the Western Conference, 116 S. Michigan Avenue, Chicago. Your information will be held strictly confidential and the in-

CLAIMS FARMERS PAY 70 PCT. OF HIGH SCHOOL TAX While But 40 Per Cent of Pupils Are from Farmer Families.

Springfield, Ill.—That Illinois farmers pay fully 70 percent of the community and township high school taxes in the state is the information disclosed by reports made by the Illinois Agricultural Association. The report covers an all-summer survey made in co-operation with the Illinois Educational Commission. The report further shows that although the farmers pay 70 per cent of the school taxes, but 40 per cent of the high school pupils are sons and daughters of farmers. The investigations that revealed this information were made in 35 counties, representing fully one half of the community and township high schools in the state, the report says. Out of the 100 school districts reported upon, three districts showed that city people paid more than their proportionate share of the taxes. Only one showed urban and country folks paying equally. In the 94 remaining districts, the farmers paid much more than their share as indicated by the 70 percent average for the 100 districts reported upon. Further information will be available when data summarized on another 100 school districts investigated this summer, although the first 100 is taken as representative of the entire state. Ten thousand questionnaires were mailed to Illinois farm bureau members in 94 counties in the state, by W. G. Willett, superintendent of county county high school at La Grange, Ill. Dr. Willett compiled the following data from answers received. Universal interest is being shown in Illinois farmers in their educational problems. Practically all farmers who answer the questionnaires intend to send their children to high school. A majority of farmers are opposed to consolidated schools under existing conditions. A majority favor the continuation of the one room school.

FARM DIRECTORS HAD CONFERENCE TUESDAY IN FPT.

Discussion of Agricultural Activities in 13th Dist. Held There.

The district meeting of leaders in agricultural activities in the 13th congressional district was held in the Stephenson County Farm Bureau office at Freeport Tuesday, with a number of Lee county workers in attendance.

At the morning session Round Table discussions were held on the following subject: "The Farmer as a Citizen," "The Farmer in Business, or Commercializing the Farm Bureau," "The Farmer and Politics," "The Farmer in Union or Organization." A question box, which proved unusually interesting and beneficial followed.

After luncheon, which was enjoyed at the Y. M. C. A., "Dad" Wise, Farm Adviser of Whiteside county, who recently returned from Europe with his World Champion Dairy Judging Team, told of his "Agricultural Observations from Abroad," and R. A. Cowles, treasurer of the I. A. A. discussed briefly "The Grain Merger, Gasoline Tax and National Council of Agriculture."

THE FALL DELUGE SWEEPS DOWN UPON BROADWAY, SEVENTEEN PLAYS BEING RELEASED IN ONE WEEK

Lucienne Hervé, French dancer, who will appear in the "Passing Show."

BY THE NEA PLAY JURY
New York.—It was certainly Labor Day on Broadway. Seventeen new shows opened.

First nighters were torn between vacation and habit.

Critics had no choice; nor producers; nor directors; nor actors.

One promising play is entitled "Nerves." But you could have found nerves in any of the playhouses.

It was a hectic getaway for the new season. A few plays had already dropped like fall leaves and all but one or two will be blown away by the first stiff competition.

Two such came last week: "The Easy Mark" and a musical show: "Bye, bye, Barbara." Some critics suggested that the title of the latter was ominous. The piece was cursed by a bad book and the music isn't sufficiently good to pull it through.

"The Easy Mark" is cut to a pattern too familiar for Broadwayites; the young man with oil lands who is about to sign it away to the villains when the fountain pen handily runs dry; the land didn't have any oil after all and the hero is able to foist it on the villains in the end. There is an excellent cast and some good moments. "The Werewolf," brought from Europe as a "shocker," was found no longer to startle sophisticated modern day audiences.

Coming events, however, have been casting their shadows all over the provinces.

There is for instance, the John Golden production, "Pigs." Our secret agents in Connecticut say that this will be a success of "The First Year" type. Frank Craven is directing it and Wallace Ford is the ambitious young man who would hitch a lame horse to his star. That is, he aims to be a veterinarian and the entire play is devoted to his struggle for $250 needed for the purchase of pigs which he would use for experimentation.

From another spy in Newark, N. J., comes word that "The Golden Spoon" will be just that for some managerial mouth. It deals with Jewish family life through three generations with a human and humorous touch, and the moral has to do with the much discussed question of money bringing happiness.

Other plays, in the opening of which there has been much interest are George M. Cohan's "Haunted House," "Havoc," "Conscience," "The Green Beetle," "Be Yourself," and "Lizzy."

Old friends of last season are returning, including "Rain," "The Swan" and "Stepping Stones."

"The Best People," a new comedy by Avery Hopwood and David Gray, has reached Broadway.

It is funny. It makes you laugh. Its action is fast. There isn't a moment when it lags. And after all, this is the test of a good comedy; one spair. My weight, like my strength, was steadily decreasing, because I had no appetite and suffered terribly from indigestion.

"Tanlac has sharpened up my appetite and brought me such good digestion that I have gained 20 lbs. and my friends say I am a picture of health. My despondent feelings are gone now, for all the weakness which resulted from the operation and Flu have left me and I am feeling as healthy and happy as I could wish. I can never praise Tanlac enough for my new health and strength."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 Million bottles sold.

Take Tanlac Vegetable Pills for constipation.—Adv.

"After all Tanlac has done for me I no longer wonder why so many people praise it," states Mrs. Lila Jacobson, 203 S. Chambers St., St. Louis, Mo.

"Following an attack of Flu and an operation in 1913 I suffered so much from nervousness and loss of energy that I was discouraged and miserable almost to the point of de-which deserves success—and will probably get it.

In the cast are such performers as James Rennie, Florence Johns, Charles Richman and Frances Howard. Rennie always can be relied upon for an intelligent characterization. But the case of Florence Johns deserves more than passing notice.

Her last outstanding role was that of the daughter in "Children of the Moon."

She won Broadway as the gentle, well-bred, family-protected girl. She created a following who loved her, possibly for her great art, but more probably for her ability to interpret a particular phase of life.

It remained for "The Best People" to widen her field of admirers. This time they sing her praise for her amazing versatility. In this new comedy she is the hard-boiled chorus girl. She's a gold digger. An uneducated, coarse-but-well-meaning moth of the white lights. She's a deceiver of the god "Gimme." There isn't a vestige of the sensitive girl of "Children of the Moon."

Frances Howard, who plays the part of the flapper daughter, seems destined to become one of the leading comedienne of the stage.

It isn't every day that a daughter of the "best people" marries the family chauffeur and the son decides to cast his lot with a chorus girl. But then, if such a practice were common, a play about it wouldn't be interesting, would it?

Small-Sized Cards are Discouraged by Gov't.

Postmaster John Meyer has again been advised of the desirability of continuing the efforts made in past years to discourage the use of small sized greeting cards and envelopes during the holiday seasons, or any other time. The efforts previously made along this line achieved gratifying results and it is believed that if attention be renewed to the many objections to the use of such small cards and envelopes the manufacturers and distributors of such matter, as well as the public generally will be glad to give their continued co-operation in the elimination of this practice.

When using cards and envelopes smaller than those generally in use for mailing purpose it seriously retards and disarranges the work in postoffices at a time when the post-facilities are taxed to the utmost. Such small sized cards and envelopes cannot be run through the cancelling machine, thus necessitating cancelling by hand and extra handlings in the course of facing and distribution. Such matter cannot be tied with the regular mail by the dispatching division or by regular carriers in delivery.

It is therefore suggested that in no case cards and envelopes be smaller than 2 1/4 x 4 inches.

Road Building Far Behind the Automobile

Millions now recognize the automobile as a necessity. It is no longer a luxury for the few. Sixty per cent of its use is for business.

Because of this the modern paved highway has become an economic necessity.

Yet although the mileage of Concrete Roads and Streets has been steadily increasing, our highway system today lags far behind the automobile. The great majority of our highways are as out of date as the single-track, narrow gauge railway of fifty years ago.

Such a condition not only seriously handicaps the progress of the automobile as a comfortable, profitable means of transportation, but also holds back commercial, industrial and agricultural advancement in practically every section of the country. It is costing taxpayers millions of dollars annually.

Highway building should be continued and enlarged upon.

Your highway authorities are ready to carry on their share of this great public work. But they must have your support. Tell them you are ready to invest in more and wider Concrete Highways now.

The Basha came to a halt before Sakr-el-Bahr, his arms majestically folded, his head thrown back, so that his long white beard jutted forward.

"I am returned," he said, "to employ force where gentleness will not avail. Yet I pray that Allah may have lighted thee to a wise frame of mind."

"He has, indeed, my lord," replied Sakr-el-Bahr.

"The praise to Him!" exclaimed Asad in a voice that rang with joy. "The girl then!"

And he held out a hand. Sakr-el-Bahr stepped back to her and took her hand in his as if to lead her forward. Then he spoke the fateful words.

"In Allah's Holy Name and in His All-seeing eyes, before thee, Asad-ed-Din, and in the presence of these witnesses I take this woman to be my wife by the merciful law of the Prophet of Allah the All-wise, the All-pitying."

The words were out and the thing was done before Asad had realized the corsair's intent. A gasp of dismay escaped him; then his visage grew inflamed, his eyes blazed.

But Sakr-el-Bahr, cool and undaunted before that royal anger, took the scarf that lay about Rosamund's shoulders and raising it, hung it over her head, so that her face was covered by it.

"May Allah rot off the hand of him who in contempt of our Lord Mahomet's holy law may dare to unveil that face, and may Allah bless this union and cast into the pit of Gehenna any who shall attempt to dissolve a bond that is tied in His All-seeing eyes."

It was formidable. Too formidable for Asad-ed-Din. Behind him his janissaries like hounds in leash stood eagerly awaiting his command. But none came. He stood there breathing heavily, swaying a little, and turning from red to pale in the battle that was being fought within him between rage and veneration on the one hand and his profound piety on the other. And as he hesitated perhaps Sakr-el-Bahr assisted his piety to gain the day.

"Now you will understand why I would not yield her, O mighty Asad," he said. "Thyself hast thou oft and rightly reproached me with my celibacy, reminding me that it is not pleasing in the sight of Allah, that it is unworthy a good Moslem. At last it hath pleased the Prophet to send me such a maid as I could take to wife."

Asad bowed his head. "What is written is written," he said in the voice of one who knows. What had happened? Had he

But from Fenzileh came no response to his prayer of thanksgiving. True, Sakr-el-Bahr must be destroyed, and by a sword that she herself had forged. Yet was it not inevitable that the stroke which laid him low must wound her on its repercussion? That was the question to which now she sought an answer. For all her eagerness to speed the corsair to his doom, she had paused sufficiently to weigh the consequences to herself; she had not overlooked the circumstance that an inevitable result of this must be Asad's appropriation of that Frankish slave-girl. But at the time it had seemed to her that even this price was worth paying to remove Sakr-el-Bahr definitely and finally from her son's path—which shows that, after all, Fenzileh, the mother, was capable of some self-sacrifice.

She comforted herself now with the reflection that the influence, whose wanting she feared might be occasioned by the introduction of a rival into Asad's harem, would no longer be so vitally necessary to herself and Marzak once Sakr-el-Bahr were removed. The rest mattered none so much to her. Yet it mattered something, and the present state of things left her uneasy. Her grasp could not encompass all her desires at once, it seemed; and whilst she could gloat over the gratification of one, she must be wail the frustration of another. Yet in the main she felt that she should account herself the gainer.

In this state of mind she had waited, scarce heeding the savage, joyous and entirely selfish babblings of her eun, who cared little what might befall his mother as the price of the removal of that hated rival from his path. For him at least there was nothing but profit in the business, no cause for anything but satisfaction; and that satisfaction he voiced with a fine contempt for his mother's feelings. Anon they witnessed Asad's return. They saw the janissaries come swinging into the courtyard and range themselves there whilst the Basha made his appearance, walking slowly, with steps that dragged a little, his head sunk upon his breast, his hands behind him. They waited to see slaves following him, leading or carrying the girl he had gone to fetch. But they waited in vain, intrigued and uneasy.

They heard the harsh voice in which Asad dismissed his followers, and the clang of the closing gate; and they saw him pacing there alone in the moonlight, ever in that attitude of dejection. What had happened? Had he ishes himself. Then he raised his arms aloft.

"Allah is All-knowing," he declared. "His will be done!"

"Amen," said Sakr-el-Bahr very solemnly and with a great surge of thankful prayer to his own long-forgotten God.

The Basha stayed yet a moment, as if he would have spoken. Then abruptly he turned and waved a hand to his janissaries.

"Away!" was all he said to them, and stalked out in their wake.

CHAPTER XXII

THE SIGN

From behind her lattice, still breathless from the haste she had made, and with her whelp Marzak at her side, Fenzileh had witnessed that first angry return of the Basha from the house of Sakr-el-Bahr.

She had heard him bawling for Abdul Mohktar, the leader of his janissaries, and she had seen the hasty mustering of a score of these soldiers in the courtyard, where the ruddy light of torches mingled with the white light of the full moon. She had seen them go hurrying away with Asad himself at their head, and she had not known whether to weep or to laugh, whether to fear or to rejoice.

"It is done," Marzak had cried exultantly. "The dog hath withstood him and so destroyed himself. There will be an end to Sakr-el-Bahr this night." And he had added—killed them both? Had the girl resisted him to such an extent that he had lost all patience and in one of those rages begotten of such resistance made an end of her?

Thus did Fenzileh question herself, and since she could not doubt but that Sakr-el-Bahr was slain, she concluded that the rest must be as she conjectured. Yet the suspense torturing her, she summoned Ayoub and sent him to glean from Abdul Mohktar the tale of what had passed. In his own hatred of Sakr-el-Bahr Ayoub went willingly enough and hoping for the worst. He returned disappointed, with a tale that sowed dismay in Fenzileh and Marzak.

Fenzileh, however, made a swift recovery. After all, it was the best that could have happened. It should not be difficult to transmute that obvious dejection of Asad's into resentment, and to fan this into a rage that must end by consuming Sakr-el-Bahr. And so the thing could be accomplished without jeopardy to her own place at Asad's side. For it was inconceivable that he should now take Rosamund to his harem. Already the fact that she had been paraded with naked face among the Faithful must in itself have been a difficult obstacle to his pride. But it was utterly impossible that he could so subject his self-respect to his desire as to take to himself a woman who had been the wife of his servant.

The WELL DRESSED MAN

By BEAUNASH

Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

The "Fancy" Waistcoat Is Back

Two things many Americans have never learned—the words of The Star Spangled Banner and how to wear the "fancy" waistcoat. This type of garment has not been in any appreciable vogue for many years on this side of the water, though it has always been worn in London and Paris. This Autumn, more men will go in for "fancy" waistcoats, because the fashion for bolder, brighter effects in dress is bringing the style back.

Such a waistcoat, sketched here, is made of soft flannel or cashmere, usually in a pattern formed by contrasting checks upon a light background. It is 5-button, single-breasted and collarless with deep-cut armholes, a shaped-in waistline and blunt bottom corners. The proper way to wear the "fancy" waistcoat is with a plain, dark-colored suit; never with one of a pale color, or the effect is one of too much color that overwhelms the eye. The cravat, too, should be dark to set itself off by contrast.

Unfortunately, the "fancy" waistcoat, which is a perfectly good style, has been bracketed for some years with the man who indulges in exaggerations or eccentricities of dress. This has retarded its vogue. As a matter of fact, it is not the waistcoat, but the way and by whom it is worn, that produces this impression. A style is only as becoming or unbecoming as the man who adopts it. Good taste and a perception of the fitness of things count for more than fashion.

So extreme a style as the "fancy" waistcoat should only be taken up by the sort of man who dresses with exceeding care and every detail of whose appearance is correct and in harmony. Moreover, it should not be worn every day, but only often enough to lend the spice of variety to a man's turnout. On top of this, the "fancy" waistcoat should be regularly dry-cleaned, as its soils readily and unless, spotless, the whole effect of the wearer's dress is spoiled. It is a style which deserves wider adoption in this country especially for semi-formal usage. Unless signs are awry, it is marked for some popularity.

PHYSICAL STATUS OF WORKERS NOW FIRMS' CONCERN

Production Costs Being Attacked from Different Angle Now.

Springfield, Ill.—Hedged in by claims of high wages, short working hours and fierce competition, the large employers of labor in this country have begun to attack the perpetual problem of production costs from the angle of the physical fitness of the worker, according to Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, state health director. The movement has already progressed to considerable proportions in several quarters and promises to reach a magnitude of great significance from the standpoint of public health as well as that of economics, according to the director.

Inefficiency and absence from the job because of ill health and physical defects on the part of employees, whether skilled or not is a big factor in slowing up production," declared Dr. Rawlings. "A number of recent surveys show that this factor adds tremendously to production costs, much more than had been previously suspected."

"As a result of these findings big business has already attacked the problem of raising the physical standards of employees by promoting what is called industrial hygiene on the one hand and by closing the doors of employment to the physically unfit on the other. Candidates for work are requested to undergo a careful physical examination given by physicians engaged for that purpose while employees already on the payroll are given every possible encouragement to keep themselves in good physical trim through medical service and counsel and the practice of sanitary and hygienic habits."

"The situation in Illinois has developed to the point where it needs active supervision. Employees need to know what standards of sanitation are required in workshops and factories to preserve the health of workers. They need to know how much and what type of medical and nursing service the employees must have in order to set them to turn out maximum production. Employees need to know the importance of such things as periodic physical examinations, vaccination against smallpox, typhoid fever and diphtheria, well balanced diets, pasteurized milk and all the sanitary measures that are recognized as important factors in preserving and promoting health. Parents and young folks need to know how increasingly stringent are the demands of industry on physical fitness and the proper means of preparing to meet them."

"A considerable number of big concerns in the state have already established medical departments as permanent units of their organizations. Reports show that the departments are paying good dividends on the investment involved. It will be only a question of time until the smaller concerns join together for doing the same thing. The movement needs expert guidance and supervision. To supply this service the next legislature will be asked to provide funds for creating a division or section of industrial hygiene in the department of public health."

With ROOSEVELT IN AFRICA

by W. Robert Foran

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Robert Foran, newspaper correspondent, accompanies the Theodore Roosevelt expedition into Africa in 1913. They arrive at Mombassa, the "gateway of British East Africa," and then make the railroad journey to their first camp on the game-crowded Kapiti Plains, 288 miles from the coast. With Colonel Roosevelt and his son, Kermit, and three scientific members of his staff—Major Edgar A. Mearns, Edmund Heller and J. Allen Loring. Incredible good luck comes to the rifles of Colonel Roosevelt and Kermit during the first two weeks of their journey. Then, where they some time at Nairobi, they spent are royally received. From Nairobi the party goes to Kiljabe to start on their first prolonged safari into the wilds of Africa.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
 Colonel Roosevelt, Kermit, Loring and Heller had ridden on the cow-catcher seat over the engine—Roosevelt's favorite seat when traveling on the Uganda Railway in the hours of daylight—as far as Kiljuyu, the next halt after Nairobi.

"You and I must come and ride with me between Kiljuyu and Limuru," Colonel Roosevelt had said to me at this first halt, while the engine took in water.

And we joyfully replaced Heller and Loring beside him on the cow-catcher. We were in enthusiastic company, for Colonel Roosevelt was simply bubbling over with excitement—first at the magnificent views, and then at the wild birds, monkeys and forests through which we passed. He was a wonderful fund of knowledge, and absolutely nothing escaped his attention.

We had traveled far from Kiljuyu, when a startled exclamation from him drew my eyes to the track ahead of us. A hyena slunk across the track just in front of our train, and we all held our breath for it seemed impossible that it should escape instant destruction.

"By gosh!" laughed Roosevelt, gleefully. "That was a narrow shave. That hyena only just saved his skin. Another second later and it would have gotten under the wheels of the engine."

At five o'clock in the afternoon we reached our destination, Kiljabe. Within a quarter of a mile of the railroad depot had been erected the huge tent town that was to form the Roosevelt camp for the next two days. It faced toward the glorious and rugged scenery of the famous Rift Valley, and the site was perfect. Over Colonel Roosevelt's tent, in the foreground of the camp, proudly waved the American flag that never left the expedition throughout the journey in Africa.

Early next morning, Mearns left to collect bird specimens in the forests, while Kermit, Heller, Loring and Dawson went off to hunt species of rare monkeys. They were particularly anxious to obtain some groups of the long-haired, black-and-white Colobus monkey, numerous about this part of Africa.

Shortly after their departure, the Rev. Charles E. Hurlburt rode into the camp to escort Colonel Roosevelt out to the African inland mission, of which he was director. I had been invited to accompany them, and so we all three presently rode there through a fine forest road.

Covers had been laid for some forty people on a raised platform among the trees; and besides ourselves, the missionaries had invited all the neighboring settlers and their families to do honor to Theodore Roosevelt.

After the feasting came the speeches, and Colonel Roosevelt delivered his first deliberate public speech in East Africa.

"It gives me very great pleasure indeed to be present today at the Kiljabe Station of the African Inland believe of the race.

"I particularly appreciate what you people of this inter-denominational industrial mission are doing, because you strive to teach the African to help himself by giving him the simple industrial training which is the pre-requisite to any movement for his permanent elevation."

"It seems to me you are doing your work in a spirit of wholly disinterested devotion to an ideal, and yet with a most practical endeavor to adopt the means that will really do good since your ideal is based very wisely upon the observation of facts."

I discussed this speech with many of the missionaries and settlers who were present, and I found that they were all quite unanimous in their delight at his encouragement of their work; and all of them appeared to be considerably impressed by the grasp Colonel Roosevelt had acquired on the conditions and needs of East Africa.

After the luncheon was concluded, Colonel Roosevelt mixed freely with the guests and engaged in earnest conversation with many of them. He was particularly interested in a family of Cape Colony people named Uliyat. This family consisted of a father, son, daughter-in-law, and three young daughters. He was very much interested in them on hearing all the time of my own people in the western states of America—a people with whom I have worked and enjoyed life. And just as we in our own country, know no difference between easterner, westerner, northerner and southerner, and pay no heed to a man's creed or his birthplace, so I hope you here, who are performing the great task of conquering for civilization this new country, will frown on every effort to keep alive or arouse any spirit of unworthy jealousy, whether based on creed or national origin, or anything else."

"I believe, with all my heart, that large parts of East Africa form a white man's country, and every effort should be made to build up a prosperous and numerous population. But, because of this belief, I ask all settlers to cooperate with the missionaries, to help in treating the black man justly and in working to put him on a higher level."

"I do not believe that, in the long run or from the standpoint of permanency, any real good can come to an individual more striving to trample down some one else. The individual who rises highest is he who helps others to rise—and the same I

CHAPTER VII

To the Sottik Country

THERE was plenty of game about Kiljabe, and Kermit and the three naturalists made the most of their two days' halt in the neighborhood. However, they confined themselves to collecting species of rare monkeys, birds and small mammals; and they were most extraordinarily successful.

"There were both rhinoceros and buffalo nearby, but no one was after them as they wished to reserve themselves for the greater attractions of the Sottik.

New St. Louis Bishop Finds Home Furnished

St. Louis, Sept. 16.—When Archbishop J. J. Glennon of the St. Louis Archdiocese of the Catholic Church moved into his new home, he found the 20-room residence completely furnished. The furniture, said to have cost more than $10,000, was a gift by the priests of the St. Louis parish. In addition to this gift, the priests presented him with a check for a considerable amount. This money, Archbishop Glennon announced would be turned over to the Kenrick preparatory school for priests. The new archbishop's new residence, located in one of the most fashionable residence districts, was formerly that of Julius S. Walsh, late chairman of the board of directors of the Mississippi Valley Trust Company.

AUGUST MONTH OF STORM DAMAGE IN ALL OF ILLINOIS

Report of Meteorologist Shows Unusual Damage Throughout State.

Springfield, Ill.—Illinois was storm swept throughout August, the monthly report of Clarence J. Root, meteorologist in charge of the Illinois section of the United States Weather Bureau, indicates.

Heavy local rains were reported in the northern part of the state with resulting floods and damage to property and crops. The Des Plaines, Edwards and Spoon rivers reached flood stages, said to be the highest ever recorded. At eleven weather bureaus in the northern section of the state and at five stations in the central portion, precipitation record for August were broken, the report said.

"In the extreme southeast the weather was too dry," Mr. Root reported. "Corn entered the month in backward condition, and made only moderate progress during the month. Some plowing was done."

"Wet weather delayed threshing in the north and some of the grain sprouted in the shock."

"At Olney, on August 2, 4.112 inches of rain fell in 90 minutes. There were several storm areas on Aug. 4. Trees and wires were blown down in Livingston county. In Chicago and Lake county basements were flooded and trees were blown down. Several fires resulted from lightning in Chicago, and a washout caused a train wreck at Area."

"Hail broke glass and damaged crops over a strip extending from southeast Henry county to Putnam county. Some stones were larger than eggs. Kewanee reports a loss of $15,000 and Tiskilwa, $20,000. Some wind damage occurred also."

"Heavy rain fell over much of northeastern Illinois on August 5 and 6, exceeding four inches in 24 hours at Elgin and Sycamore. Storm reports were received from Chicago, Waukegan and Kane counties. Buildings were struck by lightning, basements flooded, trees blown down, and there was some damage done by wash-outs. Five bridges were washed out in Carroll county."

"Local storms of August 8 caused lightning and minor wind harm over much of the northern division, with hail in Bureau and Knox counties. Kankakee reported a rainfall of 5.09 inches in 24 hours and Ottawa reported 6.81 inches for the same period. Railroad tracks were washed out and basements flooded in Bureau and La Salle counties. One person was killed."

"THEY CAN'T HANG US" BOAST FLAPPER SLAYERS

LUCILE MARSHALL
By D. D. RICHARDS
NEA Service Writer

Chicago—Anna Valanis and Lucile Marshall, 18-year-old flappers, murdered Mrs. Bessie Gaennslen for $50. They wanted the money for "good times, excitement, fun and fine clothes."

Mrs. Gaennslen, they say, owed it to them. So one day last April, they went to her apartment after it. And they got it—as their victim lay dying in her bed.

Yet Anna and Lucile can't understand how Nathan R. Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb "could have hit that poor little kid (Bobby Franks) and kill him."

ed by lightning at Canton and another at Kewanee.

"On August 19 and 20, three to nine inches of rain fell over most of a belt of territory about 75 miles wide, extending from northern Mississippi River counties southeast to Champaign and Vandalia counties. The 9.15 inches recorded rainfall at Galva was, with one exception, the greatest 24-hour precipitation ever recorded in Illinois. There was a record rainfall at Bloomington and serious floods ensued. The floods were worst in

But like Leopold and Loeb, they apparently are suffering no remorse. They talk about the killing calmly. They confess it all whenever anybody mentions it.

"They can't hang us, you know," they boast. "We're too young."

Tony Valanis, Anna's 19-year-old brother, and Bill Lyndon, 16, are held for participation in the murder.

Told Tony might have, Anna whimpered a little. She quickly recovered, though, and said:

"They can't. There's never been a minor hanged in Cook county."

"Loeb and Leopold were not. And they're about our age. So why should any of us?"

ANNA VALANIS

Anna, of course, is a bit mistaken. State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe can point out several cases in which youths under 21 have gone to their deaths on the gallows.

But these girls are shocked at the actions of Loeb and Leopold, the young "intellectuals" who killed 14-year-old Robert Franks for a "thrill."

"Gee, they're awfully cruel," Anna declares.

Both girls have institutional records. Several attempts to reform them have been made in different homes in and near Chicago.

"I suppose we'll get something," sighs Anna. "We haven't any money you see. But they won't hang us, you can bet on that."

storm occurred in Greene county on August 24. At the same time corn was damaged by hail near Galesburg.

"The temperature averaged exactly normal, and the greatest daily temperature was 11 degrees. The highest station readings were mostly in the nineties and occurred on a number of dates. The lowest station readings occurred mostly on the 14th and ranged from 41 to 62 degrees.

"A line drawn from Davenport to Terre Haute separates the northern area where the rainfall totals ranged from five to thirteen inches, these values being two to ten inches above the August normal. In the south half of the state the amounts were generally below normal. The totals were less than an inch in the extreme southeast."
